Engaging Scenario

(An Engaging Scenario is a culminating activity that includes the following components: situation, challenge, specific roles, audience, product or performance.)

In groups, students will write a short skit in which they play the following roles: 1) student from America who is visiting a German-speaking city 2) student from the same German-speaking city 3+) parents and other family members of the German-speaking student.

Students’ skit will have to show evidence of being able to ask/answer basic questions about themselves in German (“What’s your name? How old are you?” etc.), as well as to ask/answer questions about the German city in which they are pretending to be. The language used should vary between formal and informal, as appropriate.

Essential Questions:
1. How can you describe your typical school day in the target language?
2. How is a typical German school day different from a typical American one?
3. How is the German school system/structure different from the American one?

Enduring Understanding/Big Ideas:
1. Students will be able to say what classes they have, when (using time expressions) and the supplies needs for classes (pencil, calculator, dictionary, etc.)
2. Students will be able to describe some cultural differences between a typical German school schedule and an American one (German students tend to have more varied schedules, i.e. more classes in a day, different schedules for each day; German school tends to get out earlier in the day, and not include lunch, etc.)
3. Students will be able to explain how the German school system is different from the American one. For example, there are 3 (sometimes 4) types of high schools in Germany, and students are placed on a track for a type of school in the 5th grade. The type of school you go to has big implications for the types of jobs you will be able to get.

Title: Likes/Dislikes Poster Venn Diagram

Suggested Length of Time: 1-2 class periods (for presentations)

Standards Addressed

Priority:
- (1.1) Students engage in conversations, provide and obtain information, express feelings and emotions, and exchange opinions
  - (1.1a) Ask and answer questions about very familiar topics.
  - (1.1c) Share likes and dislikes

Supporting:
- (1.3) Students present information, concepts, and ideas to an audience of listeners or readers on a variety of topics
  - (1.3a) Tell or retell familiar stories or personal narratives both orally and/or in writing using prompts.
  - (1.3b) Prepare illustrated stories about activities or events and share them orally or in writing.

Detailed Description/Instructions: Students will create a Venn diagram (visual aide) showing things/activities they like to do and don’t like to do - with an overlap area - might do with a friend, might get a family member to do it with you…Diagram uses pictures from magazine, art, and clip art - to use as visual cues to speak before the class. The overlap area needs to be explained…I do not like to swim in the summer, but my brother does. I swim sometimes…My Mom doesn’t like to play video games. She plays Wii bowling with me on the weekend. Presentation should include a verbal speech of at 2 items of like and dislike and perhaps 2 in the overlap category (poster has no vocabulary listed - just art/visual depiction to help show mastery of vocabulary.

Title: Inverted Word Order - Notecard Sentences
Suggested Length of Time: 1 class period
Standards Addressed

Priority:
● (1.2b) Comprehend the principal message contained in various target language media, such as, illustrated texts, posters, and advertisements.

Supporting:
● (1.3a) Tell or retell familiar stories or personal narratives both orally and/or in writing using prompts.

Detailed Description/Instructions: Students will work in groups to restructure given sentences from “regular” to “inverted” word order. They will also work on Negation (nicht vs. kein). They will “chunk” each part of the given sentences on notecards (i.e. one note card will be the subject of the first sentence; the 2nd note card will be the verb of the first sentence; the 3rd note card will be the “time” element of the first sentence, and so on). They will then arrange the notecards into an “inverted” sentence word order.

Title: “Easy German Hobbies”

Suggested Length of Time: 1 class period

Standards Addressed

Priority:

- (1.2b) Comprehend the principal message contained in various target language media, such as, illustrated texts, posters, and advertisements.
- (1.2c) Interpret gestures, intonation and other visual and auditory clues in target language.
- (3.2b) Broaden understanding of world culture through authentic spoken and written information.

Supporting:

- (3.1a) Demonstrate competencies previously introduced
- (5.2b) Explore topics of personal interest from the target culture.

Detailed Description/Instructions: After discussing as a class what they like to do for hobbies (think, pair, share), the students will brainstorm what they think Germans would say about the same topic. Next, students will watch a video in which native German speakers interview other native German speakers on the street about what hobbies they have. Students will try to pick out words from the video that they already know, as well as new ones that they can figure out. After watching the video, students will compare/contrast what the Germans said with what their predictions were.

Engaging Scenario

An Engaging Scenario is a culminating activity that includes the following components: situation, challenge, specific roles, audience, product or performance. Students will create an illustrated “Hobbies Book” that describes what they do and do not like to do. Students will use “gern” and “nicht gern” to state preferences; time elements like “in the summer”; examples of inverted word order sentences. At least one sentence per picture in German with good vocabulary and word order.

Rubric for Engaging Scenario:
Introduction Page, titled: “Das bin ich.” (“This is me.”), including:
- Picture of yourself (photo or illustration) ___/2
- A greeting (i.e. “Hallo!”) ___/2
- An introduction (i.e. “Ich heisse…”) ___/2
- How old you are (i.e. “Ich bin ____ Jahre alt.”) ___/2
- Where you’re from (i.e. “Ich komme aus ____.”) ___/2

Essential Questions:
1. Why do teens choose typical food and drink choices after school and in their free time?
2. How are German and U.S. teens both similar and different in food and drink preferences, and snacks after school?
3. How do we express a desire to eat/drink something, show preference of items and how do we politely accept or refuse an offer of food/drink?

Enduring Understanding/Big Ideas:
1. Common items are found in your house for after school snacks or available to offer friends because of convenience, time and food value. If teens walk through town, items such as ice cream, snack stand foods or small orders in cafes may be ordered.
2. Mineralized (carbonated) water and mixtures of this water with juice are common beverages for German teens. In general, teens everywhere enjoy snacks such as chocolate, potato chips and ice cream and enjoy drinking like soda. Research can help students learn when and where these items are had in the German speaking world.
3. Learning to offer a snack or beverage to friends or visitors to our home is a polite courtesy. Learning to politely accept or refuse also shows good communication skills. Good use of correct verbs and adjectives to express would one would like, what one prefers, thinks it good, etc. all shows ways of expressing personal choice and politeness.

● ISTE-KNOWLEDGE COLLECTOR.3: Students critically curate a variety of resources using digital tools to construct knowledge, produce creative artifacts and make meaningful learning experiences for themselves and others.

Detailed Description/Instructions: Students look at menus on line in the target language to glean information about foods and beverages offered. Class can design a chart or document to show what items are common between U.S. and German culture as well as what is different. How are McDonalds around the world similar and different? What would you order off this menu? What foods would like or dislike and why?

Find today on the web mcdonalds.de
1. How many soft drink beverages are available….and name/translate any 3.
2. How many chicken sandwiches are available – name and translate any 1 with details.
3. Can you buy beer at McDonalds?
4. What can you say about the McCafé bar at McDonald’s compared to coffee selections in America’s MCDonald’s? What is offered in Europe that is not offered here?
5. Is there a current game going on for points, pull offs, scratch offs, at McDonalds?

Find http://www.cafemunich.de/ go to the regular menu Speisekarte.
1. What are the hours of this café for meals on a Tuesday? And for happy hour (over 18!)
2. Can you get a turkey sandwich here? Name and varieties?
3. Does this restaurant serve any Mexican food like we know here? IF so, name 1 and
4. Go under drinks – what is the price of a peppermint tea?
6. What does a glass of water cost? Do you get refills? Is it still water or bubbly? What actual coins would you use to buy a water and how much change would you either get back or leave the waitress?

Last assignment: Either lay Duolingo.com for 30 minutes and share your level score, rankings, or on your own, find 3 on line Quia quizzes, online grammar practices – and cut and paste your score:

Grammar must deal with 1. Future tense; 2. Kein vs. nicht – negation; 3. Conjunctions like (and, or, but, since/because Danke schön! Frau W)

Engaging Scenario

Engaging Scenario (An Engaging Scenario is a culminating activity that includes the following components: situation, challenge, specific roles, audience, product or performance.)

In class Cafe day. Students will have various roles to draw a card for: waitress, friend on the phone, friends in a cafe, exchange student to meet in cafe.

1. Once roles are established, students plan general scene of talking about food and drink choices to order from a menu. Decisions are made of what to have. Actual dialog takes place before ordering, the ordering itself, and conversation with “exchange student” to learn if those items are commonly ordered in the native country.

2. Short scene can be re-enacted, numerous times to include all class members, and to push students into various roles. When students are not actors, they are waiters and sous chefs preparing items and pretending to serve.

3. Dialog/scenes can be videotaped to grade later, or teacher can play director of scene and stop and start, call for a retake, etc.

Unit of Study Terminology

Assessment Leveling Guide: A tool to use when writing assessments in order to maintain the appropriate level of rigor that matches the standard.

Big Ideas/Enduring Understandings: Foundational understandings teachers want students to be able to discover and state in their own words by the end of the unit of study. These are answers to the essential questions.

Engaging Experience: Each topic is broken into a list of engaging experiences for students. These experiences are aligned to priority and supporting standards, thus stating what students should be able to do. An example of an engaging experience is provided in the description, but a teacher has the autonomy to substitute one of their own that aligns to the level of rigor stated in the standards.

Engaging Scenario: This is a culminating activity in which students are given a role, situation, challenge, audience, and a product or performance is specified. Each unit contains an example of an engaging scenario, but a teacher has the ability to substitute with the same intent in mind.

Essential Questions: Engaging, open-ended questions that teachers can use to engage students in the learning.

Priority Standards: What every student should know and be able to do. These were chosen because of their necessity for success in the next course, the state assessment, and life.

Supporting Standards: Additional standards that support the learning within the unit.

Topic: These are the main teaching points for the unit. Units can have anywhere from one topic to many, depending on the depth of the unit.

Unit of Study: Series of learning experiences/related assessments based on designated priority standards and related supporting standards.

Unit Vocabulary: Words students will encounter within the unit that are essential to understanding. Academic Cross-Curricular words (also called Tier 2 words) are those that can be found in multiple content areas, not just this one. Content/Domain Specific vocabulary words are those found specifically within the content.

Symbols:
- This symbol depicts an experience that can be used to assess a student’s 21st Century Skills using the rubric provided by the district.
- This symbol depicts an experience that integrates professional skills, the development of professional communication, and/or the use of professional mentorships in authentic classroom learning activities.
